Tickets are going fast for the Eleventh Annual Great Lake of the Ozarks Gospel Sing. Dubbed “A New Missouri Tradition” by Pastor Todd Forman, Emcee for the Sing, this event has a great reputation for bringing some of the greatest groups in Southern Gospel music to the Lake of the Ozarks, and 2009 promises to be as good as ever.

The 2009 lineup includes the Collingsworth Family, Booth Brothers, Tally Trio, Mark Trammell Trio, Tribute Quartet, Palmetto State Quartet, Higher Power Quartet, Karen Peck & New River, Legacy Five and Missouri’s number one Southern Gospel family group, the Lesters. Forman said, “Many of these groups and individuals have won awards at the National Quartet Convention year after year. We’re proud to be able to bring them to Main Street Music Hall in April.”

The Gospel Sing is a non-profit organization, and everyone involved with the event donates their time. Forman said, “This has truly been a ministry of love. Our reward has been to see the Gospel Sing grow year after year, bringing people from throughout Missouri as well as most of the Midwestern states. We’ve even had visitors from as far away as Canada.”

The three day event is also a “shot in the arm” for the local economy. Many of those who attend come for the entire event, and some add days on to the beginning or the end of the festival. That accounts for overnight stays in area lodging businesses as well as busier restaurants and retail stores at a time of year when business is usually a little slower.
